The Challenge of New Threats to Global Health

The role of IPPNW in times of rearmament escalating military conflicts and climate crisis

Date: 26th - 28th of February 2027

Location: Institute for Hygiene and Applied Immunology, Kinderspitalgasse 15, 1090 Vienna

Recent conflicts and the global wave of rearmament have cost countless lives and pose a severe threat to global health.

We are dedicating this meeting to address these escalating crises and are trying to develop actionable solutions. We believe that as IPPNW, it is our medical and societal duty to expose the links between health, environmental hazards, violence, and injustice. We are ultimately striving for a world where everyone can live with dignity.
